MARIN FERRY IN INCREASE

An increase of more than 65,000 passengers last year over the figures for 1927 is shown for the Richmond San Rafael Ferry company for 1928, according to figures of the government steamboat service released yesterday.

Passenger traffic in 1928 numbered 856,735 as compared with 827,608 in 1927, the report shows. The increase, according to company officials, shows the need for immediate construction of a bridge to accommodate traffic on Sunday days and holidays forcing the company to operate additional boats.

The Southern Pacific, Golden Gate and Northwestern Pacific ferry systems showed marked increase during the last year. The Martinez-Benicia ferry showed a material loss in passenger traffic.

THE SOVIET EXPERIMENT

Russians are going into as radical departures from biological practices as in government and economics. In neither of their experiments—that started by Lenin and Trotsky and that of which we are hearing from the chemico-pharmaceutical bureau, is there any clear route to ultimate good.

The physicians who have contrived an artificial heart to keep the blood pumping into the head severed from a dog's body, may one day arrive at a point where they can keep a human brain functioning after the body has worn out. But by no stretch of imagination can anyone picture any good to come from that. If the world possessed some mind so powerful that it would be of great service if kept going, long after the appointed span of a man's life, there is no guarantee that such a mind, severed from the ordinary machinery of sensation could function except by reflexes. Real brain work would be impossible without the various modes of human contact which keep a mind bearing on affairs.

The biological scheme has all tended toward the elimination of its momentary factors. In this change has come the progress of the brute. Evolution served to push forward the better fitted and to eliminate the weaker elements but human ingenuity has already attacked the law, modifying it but not, of course, repealing it.

The desire to survive is one of the fundamental urges of the individual just as it is of the race mind. It is nothing but blind determination of the mass to go on that caused civilization to impose penalties against those who break the rules. Against disease we have accomplished much. Every ailment has been conquered or withstood except those of cancer, heart trouble and insanity. Doctors will tell you that their science has still these three troubles to study and overcome.

Some of the work that has been done to shield mankind from normal troubles consequent on his environment serves to keep in the blood stream of the race weak contributions which might better be left out. So, there is a limit to the good sense of tampering with nature. The Russian scientists may enjoy and the world may feel interest in their experiments, but they are close to the door beyond which it is ordained man shall not pass.

NOT 13 MONTHS

Of course no progress is ever made unless we try to invert the old order, but what good excuse is there for making thirteen months in a year that Julius Caesar said should have but twelve? Not, you understand, that we are a partisan of Caesar's, but we have got along under his calendar system for so many centuries that we hesitate to experiment. Also there appear to be excellent reasons against the proposal, chief of which is that bills will come due too often by reason of there being too many firsts of the month. Also, supposing you are a renter, that means you must pay rent, or more, thirteen times in a year instead of twelve. That is not so good.

And it would, of course, speed up this credit business a good deal. It would mean that the tenth of the month was shoved down a little closer to the first of the month.

But speaking from the standpoint of those who prefer to adhere to old customs, old manners and are perfectly content with twelve instead of the speeded up thirteen months of the year, we are not only against the suggested innovation, but what is much more important, a-gin it.

It's hard enough to pay bills 12 months a year—if at all.—Muncie Evening Press.

The old fashioned bride who promised to love, honor and obey, now has a daughter who gets married on the slogan: "I'll try anything once."

"Spirit" is the subject of the Lesson-Sermon today in all churches of Christ. Scientist, branches of the Mother Church, the First Church of Christ, Scientist, in Boston, Mass.

The citations which comprises the Lesson-Sermon includes the following from the Bible: "Who shall a seed into the hill of the Lord? or who shall stand in his holy place? He that hath clean hands, and a pure heart; who hath not lifted up his soul unto vanity nor sworn deceitfully" (Ps. 24:3, 4).

The Lesson-Sermon also includes the following passage from the Christian Science textbook "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures," by Mary Baker Eddy: "If man is not victorious over the passions, they crush out his happiness, health and manhood. Here Christian Science is the sovereign panacea giving strength to the weakness of mortal mind—strength from the immortal and omnipotent Mind—and lifting humanity above into purer desires even into spiritual power and good-will to man" (p. 407).

WESTERN ROAD PROGRAM MAPPED

An active program to develop a western road development plan, under the leadership of the California State Automobile Association, is being mapped by the association's executive committee. The plan, which is being developed in cooperation with the federal highway department, is expected to be completed by the end of the year. The plan will provide for the construction of a network of roads throughout the western states, which will be financed by the federal government and the states. The plan will also provide for the improvement of existing roads, and for the construction of new roads in areas where there are no roads at all. The plan is expected to be a major step in the development of the western road system.

Racing Rule Changes Made By Auto Club

A new set of racing rules, which have been adopted by the California State Automobile Association, will be in effect for the first time at the annual meeting of the association, which will be held in San Francisco on March 1st. The new rules, which were developed by the association's racing committee, are expected to be a major improvement over the old rules. The new rules will provide for a more uniform and fair racing system, and will also provide for the safety of the drivers and spectators. The new rules are expected to be a major step in the development of the western racing system.

TIRE MILEAGE COST ON BIG DECREASE

Approximately one-seventeenth of a cent for each tire mile is paid by the average automobile owner, according to R. J. Kelly, local manager of the Western Automobile Supply Company, distributors of Western Giant and Wearwell tires. Based on information collected by our research department, these figures can best be appreciated when compared with the report of 1913 which claimed the cost to the tire user to be one cent per mile. Kelly says that the American tire must be made if it is to be bought back. In 1913 if a tire delivered more than 2000 miles of service, the owner was well pleased, but today the car owner expects, and in foreign lands, receives five times or more the mileage of fifteen years ago, and at a much lower cost. Improved methods of production and distribution, a more low priced and better quality tire, even before the war, has made this possible.

Motor Club To Seek Changes In Tariff Rule

An amendment to the tariff act to permit citizens of the United States who purchase American cars in foreign countries to bring them back to the United States duty-free is being sought by the American Automobile Association. According to the association, it is believed that this move would stimulate the sale of American cars abroad. A citizen may now take his car to a foreign country and bring it back duty-free, but if he purchases an American car in a foreign country, both foreign duty and the American tariff must be paid if it is brought back. Kelly says that the American tire must be made if it is to be bought back. In 1913 if a tire delivered more than 2000 miles of service, the owner was well pleased, but today the car owner expects, and in foreign lands, receives five times or more the mileage of fifteen years ago, and at a much lower cost. Use Emergency Brake To Stop If Gear Breaks

If the steering gear on your car becomes broken or damaged while your car is in motion, the safest way to bring the car to a stop is by use of the emergency brake. If the foot brake is used there is a possibility, if one brake is tighter than the other, of the car tipping over.

Motorists everywhere are enthusiastic in their praise of the new Superior Whippet. You hear them expressing their admiration of Whippet's ultra-modern style and the outstanding beauty effected by longer bodies, graceful lines, rich colors, higher radiator and hood, sweeping one-piece full crown fenders.

Yet with all its many improvements, the new Superior Whippet Four Sedan is still the world's lowest-priced four-door enclosed car. And the Whippet Six Sedan is the world's lowest-priced six-cylinder four-door enclosed car, with the impressive advantages of seven-bearing crankshaft, silent timing chain, full force-feed lubrication, Nelson type aluminum alloy invar-strut pistons and "Finger-Tip Control."

SAFETY DRIVE FOR DRIVERS STARTED

Launching an intensive, state-wide traffic safety campaign, the executive committee of the California Committee on public safety swung into action at its initial meeting in Sacramento and prepared, through education and legislation, a systematic plan for making California's highways safer during 1929. Announcement of the adoption of a comprehensive aggressive program which contemplates continuous safety activities was made today by State Senator Arthur H. Breed, chairman of the newly organized safety group. This program has the support of forty civic organizations and state departments concerned with the traffic problem, each of which is represented on the committee by one of its officials.

Heading the list of activities is the endorsement and introduction of a bill providing for a safety educational course, primarily devoted to avoidance of traffic hazards, in all elementary and secondary schools of the state. In addition to providing compulsory safety education in schools, this bill will require students of state normal schools and teachers' colleges to complete the safety instruction course before graduation. The bill carries an appropriation of $15,000.

Association Backs Bill
The effect of this measure, which was proposed by the California State Automobile Association and the Automobile Club of Southern California will be to formally recognize and give state support to the traffic safety work being conducted in schools of this section by the Automobile Association.

With the approval of this bill the executive committee named a special committee headed by superintendent of state instruction, William J. Cooper to draft a course of study to carry into effect the purpose of the bill. Serving with Cooper on this committee will be Mrs. R. L. Cardiff, president of the California Congress of Parent Teacher associations; E. B. Lefferts, manager of the Public Safety department of the Automobile club of Southern California; D. V. Nicholson, assistant secretary of the California State Automobile Association; and Lawrence E. Chenoweth, representing the association of California Public School Superintendents. Other important activities of the state-wide campaign will include a program of adult education, standardization of fines and penalties, and uniform interpretation of state laws and ordinances.

Meek Heads Committee
The duty of improving enforcement conditions and proper interpretation of the laws was placed in the hands of a committee headed by Meek.

A program for adult education was placed in the hands of a committee headed by Ralph W. Robinson, executive secretary of the San Francisco Traffic Survey committee, and including C. W. The 2-Door Sedan, $745 Body by Fisher

"Tell me who you go with and I'll tell you who you are." That has a familiar ring, hasn't it? But you seldom hear it any more. People have a better way of judging other people now. They simply look at the family automobile. . . And that is why the Pontiac Big Six is meeting with greater success than any other Pontiac ever built. The Pontiac Big Six provides big car qualities to the fullest degree. It has big car beauty. It offers big car engineering features by the score. . . And every day, the number of Pontiac Big Sixes on the road is increasing—because progressive people welcome the idea of stepping up in motor car quality without stepping out of the low-price field!

Prices $745 and up, f. o. b. factory, plus delivery charges. Bumpers and fender guards regular equipment at slight extra cost. Check Oakland-Pontiac delivered prices—they include lowest handling charges. General Motors Time Payment Plan available at minimum rate.

THE NEW PONTIAC BIG 6 at $745
PRODUCT OF GENERAL MOTORS

PONTIAC SIXES ATTRACTING CROWDS

Bearing little resemblance to the previous product and thus rightly regarded as a new design, the new Pontiac, known as the Big Six, is being displayed by J. P. Strom, Oakland-Pontiac dealer in Richmond. The Fisher bodies are unusually attractive and exhibit a brand new idea in body architecture, a concave curve at the belt in place of the usual convex curve, which subtly emphasizes the fore and aft lines.

The line this year comprises seven body styles, two of which are innovations in the Pontiac line. These two are the convertible cabriolet and the landaulet sedan. Both have convertible rear quarters, which may be raised or lowered as desired. The other models are the 2 door sedan, 4 door sedan, coupe, sport roadster and sport phaeton.

The new motor is larger and develops 29 percent more power. It has a new counter weighted crankshaft, new harmonic balancer, and larger carburetor, intake manifold and valves. Other features are new self energizing four wheel brakes, new rear axle, adjustable front seats, new transmission, and a new Hotchkiss drive.

The new brakes are Midland Steeldraulic which operate on 11 inch drums providing a brake band area of 194 square inches. Some of the advantages claimed for the new brakes are permanent stopping power under all operating conditions, complete enclosure of all working parts, and that they are not affected by mud, dust, water or changes in temperature.

Striking new body creations by Fisher impart to the entire line individuality and custom like features entirely new in the Pontiac price class. A full side view shows to best advantage the striking lines of the new car. A pleasing concave belt molding starting at the cowl and completely encircling the body, and a high waist line effect, distinguish these new Fisher bodies.

All closed bodies have adjustable driver's seats which may be moved forward or back to conform to the stature of the driver. Other features are the smart new military sun visor, slender ebony finish 17 inch steering wheel, ebony finish instrument panel illuminated by two hooded bulbs, Delco Remy combination transmission and ignition lock on the dash, twin beam headlights for highway or city driving operated by foot control, theft proof door locks, and exclusively designed running boards.

Upholstery material in the closed models is of modern, corduroy or velour in solid colors matching the smart new Duo combinations used on the bodies. The open types are upholstered in Spanish leather with attractive Fabrikoid trim and with tops of gray cloth-top.

MANEUVERS OF NAVY SHOWN IN FILM

The United States navy at maneuvers is graphically portrayed upon the screen at the California theater when Columbia's De Luxe special, "Submarine," is being shown. The early sequences were filmed aboard the U. S. S. Tern, one of the best mine sweepers in the service. They show Jack Holt and Ralph Graves as petty officers at work dredging a Philippine harbor. Against a fantastic background the picture illustrates how depth bombs are placed, divers at work attaching buoys to the wreckage and a daring bit of action in which Holt becomes entangled in a line going out with a bomb. He is dragged overboard and down to the wreck. Ralph Graves does an excellent bit of work in helping him. Graves takes a knife in his mouth and under water severs the cable.

Later action shows the fleet having smoke screens, submarines firing at a submarine by a cruiser and its escort. During the drop to the bottom the interior workings of the boat are shown. The loss in control, the flooding of the scuttles and generation of gas, the emergency oxygen and the care taken to prevent it being exhausted too rapidly; the psychology of the men, who are trapped and the methods employed to keep them in cool spirits form part of this sequence.

Other scenes show divers at work, the signal system, the inability to stand the water pressure and the struggle to reach the lower depths.

Some beautiful shots of the U. S. S. Scorpion are included in the action. One scene in particular shows Holt as a diver taking off the deck of the ship in an airplane.

The whole production is a glowing tribute to the navy and an authentic picture of life on the sea. It is full of drama, offset by deft touches of comedy and a love story that is unique.

On the program "Chic Sale" the famous comedian in a screaming force of an escaped lunatic entitled "They Are Coming To Get Me" and Marion Harris singing some of the latest song hits and a two reel comedy together with a Fox News completes a very fine bill.

Phyllis Haver Moves Talent To 'Tenth Ave.'

Roxie Hart has moved to Tenth Avenue! Phyllis Haver, who played the role of Roxie in the film version of "Chicago," has a dramatic featured role with Victor Varconi and Joseph Schildkraut in "Tenth Avenue," a De Mille studio production for Pathe which will be shown at the Richmond theater on Monday and Tuesday.

Victor Varconi, who interpreted Roxie Hart's husband in "Chicago," appears with Miss Haver in "Tenth Avenue" while Schildkraut is seen as a gangster in this screen story of New York's West side. Robert Edson, Louis Nathaux, Casson Ferguson, Ernie S. Adams, and Ethel Wales are in the supporting cast. Douglas Dorey adapted the film version from the play "Tenth Avenue" by William C. de Mille was the director.

HOME TOWNERS WILL APPEAR HERE

If the crook play has begun to make you feel that you are rather fed up with that sort of cinema fare, then remember that a play is coming to the California theater Tuesday next that will make up tenfold for all that you have had to suffer at the hands of the yeags and such crockers. The screen special that is to do all this magic is none other than Warner Bros. version of George M. Cohan's tremendous stage comedy success, "The Home Towners."

George M. Cohan has the reputation on Broadway of being the cleverest of comedy-makers and comedy-star—and producers too for that—Broadway is lost without two or more of Cohan plays in full swing. Then by way of variation George dashes off a song like "Over There," that sells by the millions, and better still, is on millions of lips everywhere. And "The Home Towners" is George M. Cohan at his chuckling, twinkling, flag-waving best. It has to do with a middle-aged small town man who comes to the city to fix a broken watch. Then Fanny helps a man, Tom, who is broke; falls in love with him, and believing he loves her, precipitates an engagement. Audrey returns and Tom becomes infatuated. Fanny, trying on her wedding dress, sees Tom kissing Audrey. Tom and Audrey run away.

BEAR QUINTET WINS FROM CARDS

PALO ALTO, Feb. 9.—(U.P.)—A vastly improved Stanford basketball team almost blasted the unbeaten record of the Golden Bears of California in their sweep to leadership in the southern half of the coast conference but failed here tonight 19 to 17 to win because of inability to throw free throws.

The score at half time was tied 12 to 12 and again was tied just before the final whistle, 17 to 17 when Len Stevens, California forward, shot one through the basket from the sidelines in a two handed shoulder throw for the winning points.

Mike Reynolds, sub Stanford guard, had two tries at free throws after that to tie the game but failed in each attempt.

Fawcett was high man with eight points. Three field goals and two free throws.

Captain Corbin of California was next with seven points.

In contrast to the first 1929 meeting of the two teams which was won hands down by California, Stanford put up a hard fight and the Cardinal five man defense gave the Bears a lot of trouble.

In the preliminary game the Stanford frosh humbled the California freshmen 32 to 17.

Man Gets Wish Sent To Jail

MARTINEZ, Feb. 9.—James Purdy, 25, today had his desire for a 30 day jail sentence satisfied when Justice of the Peace Frank Glass sentenced him on a vagrancy charge. Purdy, according to his own statement, has been unable to find work.

He appeared yesterday afternoon at the sheriff's office and said he was hungry. He informed the officers that he had been searching for work for more than a week and had been unsuccessful. He asked that a charge of vagrancy be preferred against him and his wish was granted by Deputy Sheriff Robert Sharkey.

FANNIE BRICE MYMAN
By Arline de Haas

Copyright 1928 Warner Bros. Pictures Inc.
"MY MAN," starring Fannie Brice, is a Warner Bros. picturization of this novel.

Fanny Grice is raising her brother, Phil, and her sister, Audrey, for whom she makes every sacrifice. But Audrey goes home "to live her own life" and leaves Fanny alone. Fanny's room is "discovered" by Lazarus, an attorney for Waldo, theatrical producer, who takes her to Waldo. During the audition Fanny learns of Audrey's interest in Waldo. Heartbroken, she falls in despair. Then Fanny helps a man, Tom, who is broke; falls in love with him, and believing he loves her, precipitates an engagement. Audrey returns and Tom becomes infatuated. Fanny, trying on her wedding dress, sees Tom kissing Audrey. Tom and Audrey run away.

Suddenly there came a loud knocking at the door. Fanny sat up, startled. That must be the people who were coming to her party that evening. She couldn't face them; she couldn't.

"Who's that?" Phil asked. "It's—the people for—the party," Fanny sobbed. "Phil, dear, run and get me a drink."

She'd have to let them in—have to. She'd have to make some explanation, some excuse. Phil came running back with the water. Fanny managed to gulp a few swallows.

"You let them in, Phil, and I—"

A laughing, shouting little crowd rushed down the hall and banged on Fanny's door. Fanny sat up abruptly. What should she do? She looked about like a trapped animal for some means of escape. But there was none. Sooner or later the girls would be in the room.

"Come in," she called at last, hesitatingly. She tried to straighten her hair and smooth her dress.

The door was flung open and a troop of girls entered.

"Fanny! Hello, Fanny! Oh, look, girls, she's trying on her wedding dress! Gee, isn't it swell? Say you're not the lucky girl? It's gorgeous, Fanny! Stand up, let's see it! Look, girls, she's wearing everything! It's beautiful! Come on out! You gotta show 'em rest! That's as smart as anything on Fifth Avenue! Did you make it? Oh, no, she couldn't do it! That's the fit of those sleeves, will you? A train, too! Gee, that's grand!"

Too occupied with their inspection of the dress, they did not notice Fanny's white face, nor her lack of response to their praises. And Fanny stood up, cold and numb, and tried to force a smile. But there were no smiles for her. Audrey and Tom—Audrey and Tom—the two names kept running through her mind. A long stretch of barren loneliness. Tom gone from her. She stood alone in an aching void.

"Come on, Fanny; come on out. Everybody wants to see you." They were pulling at her, trying to lead her into the living room. But Marie, Fanny's best friend at Thorne, noticed the peculiar pallor of her face.

"Hey, wait a minute, kids," she interrupted, catching Fanny's arm. "She needs some powder on her face. Here, lemme fix you up a little, Fanny," she suggested kindly. "I guess you been havin' a lot to do. Your nose's all shiny. Come here. She led Fanny over to the mirror and turned on the light above the glass. She noted the red circles about the girl's eyes, and she surmised that she had been crying, rightly enough, but imagined that it was simply the strain of the preparations that had made her friend nervous.

"It's all right, kid," she soothed, searching about for make-up on the dresser. "It's a terrible job, getting married. My sister almost went cuckoo when she took the fatal step. You'll be all right soon's it's over."

Definitely she began patting on powder and a little color, but Fanny's face was so pale that the rouge stood out in red blotches, and Marie had to wipe most of it off. But she was succeeding in making the girl a little more presentable. And Fanny stood motionless, all unfeeling, through the procedure.

"There, now, you look a lot better, Fanny," Marie said kindly, stepping back to look at her work. "You're just nervous, that's all. Yes, I guess that's it." Fanny acceded, scarcely knowing what she was saying.

"Come on, let's go." The girls surrounded Fanny and came forth in a triumph procession. "We caught her trying on her wedding dress," they called to the other guests as they led her into the living room. "Don't she look swell?"

The boys rushed forward, and everybody tried to introduce everybody else at once. There was tremendous to-do and excitement.
